

HUSTON REFUSES NOW TO RESIGN DESPITE DEMANDS

Chairman of Republican National Committee to Fight Issue

VERY BITTER QUARREL

Leaders Seek to Avoid A Possible Break in Party Fold

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Full of fight, Chairman Huston, of the Republican National Committee today faced the officers of his committee who are calling for his immediate retirement. In advance of today's meeting, he served notice he would fight it out for his position against the attacks of party leaders in Congress and of his own committee.

It is one of the most bitter quarrels in the Republican organization in many years and intimates of President Hoover were anxiously looking for a settlement which would avoid a wide open break in the party's fold.

Today's meeting of the officers of the National Committee was called by Huston several days ago for the purpose of mapping out plans for the fall campaign. It has developed into a showdown contest between Huston and the party leaders who are demanding his retirement.

After rounds of conferences at the White House and at the Capitol the Republican leaders were determined to ask today for Huston's early withdrawal. However, he returned to the city late last night and stated emphatically he had no intention of resigning.

Two courses were under consideration for today by the party leaders. They are prepared to ask Huston to call a special meeting of the executive committee. This committee alone has the power to remove and to replace National party officers. If Huston declines to do this, they are prepared to circulate a petition seeking a majority of the members to favor the meeting.

Others contend the whole issue over Huston is up to President Hoover. Mr. Hoover conferred with Huston on Sunday night and told him of the opposition to him but he did not ask for the resignation.

Then it became known that Huston had no intention of resigning. Thereupon, his foes, who had been confidently expecting his retirement as soon as Congress adjourned, got busy. They determined to have it out with him today.

The trouble over Huston started at the time he testified before the Senate Lobby Committee that he had solicited funds a year ago for the Tennessee River Improvement Association in behalf of its lobby for the private leasing of the Muscle Shoals, Alabama, power and nitrate plant. Huston said he collected $31,000 for this work from the Union Carbide Co. and deposited it in his brokerage account before turning it over to the association.

Demands were made at that time that Huston retire and the word was circulated he would withdraw as soon as Congress adjourned.

Later, Huston was confronted by a group of National party leaders including two cabinet members and bluntly told that his services for the party had been impaired. He declined absolutely to get out while under fire. Today, the party officers were prepared to tell Huston that almost all of the Republican members of the House who are up for re-election this year and most of the State Republicans desire his retirement.

Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, alone of those called to today's conference, was believed to be standing with Huston.

The others here for the meeting were Daniel V. Pomeroy, of New Jersey, a vice-chairman; Joseph R. Nutt, of Ohio, treasurer; James Francis Burke, of Pennsylvania, counsel; Representative Wood, of Indiana, chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, and Matt Chilton, of Kentucky, who has the proxy of Mrs. Alvin T. Hart, of that State, a vice-chairman.

Senator Fess, of Ohio, has been slated to succeed Huston if and when he retires. Robert Lucas, of Kentucky, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, is favored to be named as executive chairman in charge of organization work.

A conference at Republican headquarters followed Huston's arrival last night. It was learned the party chairman reiterated his refusal to relinquish his post. Those who attended the meeting included Burke and Earle S. Kinsley, National Committee-man for Vermont.

Hospital Lawn Fete Opens Amid A Shower of Rain

The Harriman Hospital Lawn Fete opened last night as usual amid a shower of rain, but little did the storm affect the fete due to the fact that this year everything is being conducted under canvas.

The rain did have a tendency to keep the attendance small but with clear weather anticipated for this evening it is believed that there will be a large gathering on the lawn of this popular institution.

The vari-colored lights and the gay pennants floating in the breeze made the hospital lawn a very attractive place. Then there was the merry-go-round which not only furnished amusement for the children but provided good music as well.

The fete will continue each evening for the balance of the week.

GAME ASSOCIATION TO HOLD OUTING JULY 26TH

Annual Affair to Be Staged at Maple Beach, As Usual

NAMES THE COMMITTEE

An enthusiastic meeting of the Bristol Fish and Game Protective Association was held Tuesday evening in the rooms of Coleman and Harkins. Members were present from Bristol, Croydon, Hulmeville and other districts.

As a result of the drive, the membership of the organization has increased to the number of two hundred and thirty two.

Arrangements were made for the annual outing to be held Saturday, July 26, on the club grounds of the Rohm and Haas Company, at Maple Beach. In addition to the usual number of events, consisting of target shooting, rifle and pistol contests, fly and bait casting, quilt matches and a tug of war contest, the committees have arranged for card and checker games.

The officers have been fortunate in being able to secure, for this occasion, an exhibit of live wild animals. Through the Bureau of Predatory Wild Animals of the State of Pennsylvania. The Bureau was induced to bring the exhibit here only by reason of the fact that the Doylestown Game Protective Association will hold their outing a few days prior to that given by the Bristol Association, thus making possible for both of the organizations to have the benefit of the exhibit, as the state authorities would not bring the animals into the county for only one such occasion.

This should prove a very unique and interesting feature of the day. Refreshments will be served the members and their guests, free of charge.

Up to the present time the Bristol Fish and Game Protective Association has liberated one hundred rabbits, fifty quail and forty three pheasants, having purchased with their own funds, twenty five of the pheasants, the balance having been furnished by the state.

The state distribution is governed by the size of the membership of the body, and it is for this reason, that a large number of members is desired, so that next year, the allotment of game may be very materially increased.

For the benefit of those interested in fishing, a number of cans of different species of game fish have been stocked in the streams of lower Bucks county and more are promised shortly by the State Hatcheries. Some yellow bass which they claim may attain the length of twenty inches, have been placed in Silver Lake.

President Thomas Scott appointed the following committees to take charge of the outing and trap shooting—George W. Bruden and Daniel English with Ellis E. Ratcliffe as chairman; Rifle match—Dr. C. G. Clark and Ralph Bruden with Lewis Townsend as chairman; Pistol match—Edward Pickering 3d and William Sackville with John Healey as chairman.

Bait and Fly Casting—Frank Loud-erbaugh and Horace N. Davis with Leslie Kilcoyne as chairman.

Quilts, Checkers, Pinochle and Tug of War—Howard Black and Leon Comly with George Taylor as chairman. Prizes and tickets—Ralph Ratcliffe. Lunch—George P. Bailey and Frank Crobe.

IN HOSPITAL

Ruth Jeffries, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Jeffries, of Swain street, has been in the Hahnemann Hospital in Philadelphia, for the past several days, where she is receiving treatment for a broken arm, recently sustained by a fall.

American Legion Auxiliary of Robert W. Bracken Post will conduct its July business meeting in the post rooms tomorrow evening. Plans are being made now for the card party to take place on Monday evening, July 21st. Prizes are to be on hand, and the usual pleasant, social evening is promised.

OLD DELAWARE SCHOOL HOUSE BUILT AT EDGELY IN 1875 -- OLD STONE BUILDING NOW RESIDENCE OF MRS. WM. C. FISHER -- SOME NEW FACTORIES

Industries Are Few But of Substantial Nature — Paterson Parchment Paper Plant is Now Expanding — Beers-Tapman, Inc., Has Been in the Community for the Past Six Years — Edgely Brass Company is Latest Acquisition.

Herewith is given the third installment of an interesting article dealing with the history and present day affairs of the Village of Edgely. Other installments will follow daily. A history of Edgely has never been compiled and a staff reporter of the Courier has gathered the material for the story from all available sources of information.

Very near the century mark also is the present residence of Dr. W. Albertson Haines, between the canal and railroad, near the end of Edgely avenue. Sixteen rooms form this structure of rough-cast brick. This land-mark was once known as Edgely Hall, and for the past 27 years has the Haines family occupied it. The home was built by the late Willet Paxton.

There were 445 acres that comprised the tract of land owned by John Booz who died in the year 1821 at Edgely. This land-owner, who left a wife and 14 children this vast estate, was a familiar figure in this section a century and more ago. The old Booz homestead still stands, near the railroad.

This stone property is now owned by Arthur Wolvin, and a portion of the ground has been laid off in building lots. The sturdy old dwelling house was erected in the latter part of the 18th century, and it is believed by many to be the oldest dwelling in the Edgely section.

The Booz heirs after the death of the father sold the property to the late Peter Coates, a relative of J. P. Coates, the cotton and thread manufacturer. Some years later a part of the property was acquired by the Landreth family.

At the northern edge of the village is the old Delaware school house, built in 1875. It has been many years since classes were held in the 55 year old stone structure along the pike. For some time before the World War the building was idle, and at the close of the war period it was purchased by the late Henry S. Hibbs, who turned it into a bungalow of 8 rooms. His daughter, Mrs. William C. Fisher and her husband, now occupy the place. Mr. Hibbs died five years ago.

Edgely has been able within the past few years to boast of a splendid large factory erected for the manufacture of parchment papers. The Paterson Parchment Paper Company plant is located between the highway and the Delaware at the lower section of Edgely.

The buildings of the main portion of the mill were completed in 1923. There are two structures, very large, of brick, as well as a power house. Some other smaller buildings are now in the course of erection. Plants are also operated by the company in Passaic, N. J.

MRS. GEDDES REFUSED INJUNCTION BY COURT

Judge Boyer Held That Public Would Be Inconvenienced

WITHOUT THE NEW LINE

DOYLESTOWN, July 10.—Judge Calvin S. Boyer on Tuesday refused a preliminary injunction in the case of Mrs. Sophia M. Geddes, of Danboro, against the Philadelphia Electric Company. The matter will now be continued until a final hearing that will be after argument court in this fall.

The plaintiff sought to restrain the defendant company from the operation of a new 33,000 volt electric line along the highway in front of her property on the Danboro and Point Pleasant highway. The line, recently increased in voltage, serves a large community in the Point Pleasant and upper-Delaware River section and is part of a new system for the distribution of electric current recently installed by the defendant company.

In refusing the preliminary injunction after the second day of hearing in the case No. 2, court, Judge Boyer asserted that the plaintiff had failed to show any danger of additional trespass on her property, and had also failed to show that irreparable damage had been done by the defendant company or that any was likely to happen before the final disposition of the case.

Judge Boyer also remarked that an injunction granted against the defendant company would cause the public at large in the vicinity served by the new line, great inconvenience and damage, more than any that could be suffered by the plaintiff.

VISITING HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bond, of Philadelphia, were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kallenbach, of Fairview Lane.

J. At present there are about 75 people employed by the Paterson Company.

Beers-Tapman, Inc., is another place of employment where several Edgely folks are engaged. For the past six years has the plant been located in Edgely, and during busy seasons employs 40 men. Steel construction pieces are there manufactured. The site of the plant is between the canal and railroad at the upper end of the village. The business occupies two buildings, erected of steel. Samuel S. Tapman is president.

HERE AND THERE IN TOWNS OF COUNTY

Police Asked to Search for Missing Richlandtown Youth

OTHER COUNTY NEWS

DOYLESTOWN, July 10.—Police of the cities of the eastern and western section of the United States have been asked to assist in the search for Harold C. Lockhart, nineteen, former Richlandtown High School student, who disappeared from his father's gasoline station at Shelly, Bucks County, last Saturday afternoon.

Parents of the missing youth appealed today to District Attorney Arthur M. Eastburn, of Doylestown, to do what he can in the search. They believe that the boy might have met with foul play owing to the fact that he had bank accounts in two banks and in a Bethlehem building and loan association, and because he left home with about $20 to go to Bethlehem to pay his building and loan dues.

An investigation showed that he did not pay his dues in Bethlehem because the office was closed. He left home when he stopped an automobile and asked a stranger for a ride to Bethlehem.

The only reason the parents can give for their son's disappearance other than foul play is that he often spoke of a desire to see the Rocky Mountains and the West. He was interested in mining engineering but none of his money has been drawn for a trip West.

When he disappeared, Lockhart wore a two-piece blue serge suit, no hat or cap, black shoes. He is noticeably flat-footed, but of powerful physique, being five foot, 11 inches tall, weight, 165 pounds. He has black, wavy hair and dark brown eyes.

Lockhart worked at his father's gasoline station at Shelly, north of Quakertown, on the Bethlehem pike.

Reports for the first six months of the year, showed that the police of Quakertown, under the supervision of Chief of Police Harry Rhoades, have been quite busy. During this period 98 persons were lodged in the borough lockup for a night or more.

According to Chief Burgess Smith, in 1929 only a few more than 100 persons were placed in the lockup during the entire year. Burgess Smith stated that lack of employment was the cause of the increased number of persons seeking lodging in the lockup. The total number of arrests was also quite high, the department making 38.

The most notable accomplishment of the department was the clearing up of a series of robberies in Quakertown and other parts of the North Penn Valley by the capture and conviction of John Harr, a former convict who made his home in Quakertown. A few weeks ago Harr was sentenced to serve from 8 to 14 years at the Eastern Penitentiary by the Bucks County courts at Doylestown. He was convicted on eight different charges. In Quakertown he was charged with the robberies at the Scheetz and Price hardware store, the Kooker and Smith furniture store, the Nicholas and Diehl hardware store, the grocery store of Romanus Hoffman and a number of other smaller "jobs."

Solebury township supervisors held their monthly meeting on Saturday. At this meeting it was learned that the township is in debt about $19,999. When the state reward is received, it will reduce the indebtedness in the neighborhood of $20,000. It was decided, in view of the shortage of money, to defer township road work until September.

OVER QUARTER MILLION TO BE PAID OUT HERE

Building Associations to Disburse Huge Sums During the Present Year

$125,000 PAID-OFF LOANS

Sometimes it is said that people today are spending more than they earn and that nothing is being put aside for a "rainy" day. "This is an age of spendthrifts" is another expression heard from time to time.

But facts given to the Courier prove that these assertions are not altogether true and it is proven beyond a doubt that there are still some folks, particularly in Bristol and vicinity, who are saving some of their money and are not wasting their earnings in "keeping up with the Joneses."

The saving habit through means of the various building associations here has taught many persons to be thrifty. Many homes today are owned which never would have been paid for had it not been for the building associations.

In Bristol and vicinity there are 8 building associations. They are: Bristol Building & Loan Association, Fidelity Building Association, Harriman Building Association, Townsite Building Association, Merchants & Mechanics Building Association, Croydon Building Association, Union Building & Loan Association, all of Bristol; and William Penn Building Association of Tullytown.

Figures which have just been compiled show that these eight associations will mature stock during the present year which will pay in actual cash to stock holders over a quarter of a million dollars and will liquidate $125,000 in mortgages.

The Building Association means of saving money has met with great popularity here and thousands of dollars are paid into the eight associations each year.

CAMP BUCCOU NEARLY READY FOR SCOUTS

Camp Staff Arrives and Many Changes Are Nearly Completed

OPENS SAT., JULY 12

CAMP BUCCOU, July 10.—The Camp Staff has arrived! They found many changes when they came upon the camp site. The beautiful mess hall with its tables, and benches arranged. The Cub shack, and Scout Headquarters painted. The Quartermaster, and last year's cooking shack is being renovated. The troop sites of last year have been graded so as to make possible a more even level for cots.

The using of the last year eating tent as a Cub department headquarters, and crafts tent is slowly developing. The arrangements for this tent require the grading of a considerable area in front of the Cub camp.

The staff is busy getting the material together for each of their departments. The location of the medical department to a more central place, and its elevation from the ground is a decided improvement. The floor, and miscellaneous equipment is being painted.

The swimming pier is being painted, and their will be one new canoe, and two rowboats with the addition of another row boat which is going to be built by the Scouts in the Doylestown Kiwanis Crafts Lodge.

The installation of the equipment to handle the serving of food in an enclosed building such as our new mess hall is taking considerable time but it has reached the point where it will be completed by Thursday evening.

Thursday evening has been set as the final date when all improvements, and rearrangements are to be completed. The staff will be busy the balance of the time "brushing up" the "rough spots" in the administration of their various departments.

Everything will be ready for the first group of Scouts and cubs on Saturday. The enrollment for the first week is considerable in excess of last year, and everything gives promise of the 1930 season being a banner one.

Chairman Henry Palmer, Cyrus Smith and Frederick H. Clymer were at Buccou on Monday consulting with Scout Executive Livermore on the installation of the washing and cooking facilities for the kitchen of the mess hall. Mr. Clymer surveyed the improvement that has been made at the reservoir. Plans were completed for building a retaining wall on both sides of the mess hall basement, and a concrete platform has been arranged to hold the hot water heating unit.

NO HOPE

It was too good to be true. Were our nature more cynical than trusting, we might not have been a party to raising the hopes of the pedestrian only to see them now dashed to the ground and shattered by the very parties we sweetly and innocently believed to be his friends. It is an experience that may warp somewhat our hitherto abounding faith in the essential goodness of man.

That is to say, it is only a matter of weeks since it was reported that the great and good men who are commissioned with the control of traffic hither and yon had heard with tear-dimmed eyes the pleas of pedestrian hordes for a square deal in the division of the right of way. Uplifted and inspired by that seeming demonstration of man's nobler attributes we gushed forth a psalm of praise and thanksgiving. We effervesced in ecstatic contemplation of what seemed to be a victory for that step-child of fortune, the pedestrian.

It was entirely premature. We were victims of our all too eager credulity. We were swept away by our uninhibited emotions. Today the harassed pedestrian finds his path made steeper and rougher in some cities by traffic rules placing him in a class with his mortal enemy the motor vehicle, and elsewhere his few remaining rights are being taken from him under threat of extermination under the wheels of crushing, rushing traffic.

DRIVERS WHO IMBIBE

The automobile driver who drinks to excess is the terror of the road. Death and disaster follow in his wake. But should any driver even taste liquor while he is operating a motor vehicle? Few will answer in the affirmative, and there are some who will contend that the moderate drinker becomes a menace to public safety when he is behind the wheel.

It is undoubtedly a fact that even a little liquor often upsets the balance and normal attitude of the mind, and affects the drinker's operation of a motor car unfavorably. Liquor makes some persons confident. From other persons it takes away confidence and makes them doubtful and hesitating. Liquor does not mix well with the driving of a motor vehicle.

A motor car or truck is not improperly called a private locomotive. The driver has to undergo training to operate a machine that weighs a ton and can develop a speed in excess of a mile a minute. If it is essential that locomotive engineers abstain from intoxicating drink. The driver of a car should deny himself the use of liquor whether he rides alone or is responsible for the safety of others.

Probably the most difficult case to treat is that of the driver who does not get drunk with the intention of operating a motor vehicle while in that condition. And these cases seem to predominate. Those who must have their intoxicants should leave their cars in the garage.

A native is one who feels privileged to butcher his own language.

When denying yourself some pleasure, be sure you gain at least as much as you lose.

The Spirit of Progress is a famous statue on the original Montgomery Ward & Co. Building, Michigan Boulevard, Chicago. For generations it has been a symbol of leadership and inspiration for this great world-wide organization.

The Spirit of Progress

Guides Montgomery Ward & Co.

Starting as the original mail order house and now operating the world's largest general merchandise chain, we continue to strive to realize the ideals of leadership which our symbol represents 18,000,000 people will see this announcement in more than 650 of the nation's leading newspapers this morning. You are personally interested in this important message and will be well repaid for the time you take to read every word.

Leadership demands action. A great deal has been said and written about unemployment and poor business. You read much about the reduced purchasing power of the average citizen—but what about his paying power?

Despite the unemployment, the present average weekly payroll of America is estimated at $840,000,000. In addition, the registered savings accounts total over twenty-seven billion dollars and are steadily increasing. Yes, there is ample paying power. But we believe that general business will improve only when the buying public are satisfied that prices to them (and that means to you) reflect the new low commodity levels.

In our judgment, commodity prices are scraping bottom today. We do not say that there will not be some further declines, but broadly speaking, current prices are the lowest in years, in some cases the lowest in 15 to 20 years.

Leadership Demands Action

Montgomery Ward & Co. is placing orders for millions of dollars worth of merchandise at these new low commodity levels. There are 120,000,000 American people to be fed, clothed, sheltered and entertained; and regardless of unemployment, poor export business, low agricultural prices, etc., the requirements of the American nation total a huge sum.

New Fall Prices Now

For many years it has been the custom of Montgomery Ward & Co. to make Fall prices effective when our Fall and Winter Catalogue is distributed, about September 1st.

Months ago we cut prices. During the past 60 days there have been further declines in the cost prices of many items of merchandise—and all these low prices we are making effective at once—so that as far as Montgomery Ward & Co. customers are concerned, they need not wait for lower prices. Ward's prices are down NOW to the new commodity levels.

How Do You Judge a Low Price?

Only by the dependable quality you receive.

There is nothing cheap about Montgomery Ward & Co. merchandise. We have never sacrificed quality to make low prices, and despite the surprising savings that are possible on thousands of different articles which we sell through our catalogues and Retail Stores, you can buy from us with complete confidence.

There is a good deal in the papers now about the Byrd Antarctic Expedition. They used more than 7,000 articles selected from our regular stocks and they used them under conditions where quality and dependability meant life itself. Their verdict was radioed to us in March from Dunedin, New Zealand, "Satisfactory in all respects."

Our method of doing business can be stated in one phrase—

"You Must Be Satisfied"

The goods you buy from us must be "satisfactory in all respects." Leadership demands action. In making our Fall prices effective now, we are doing something definite to establish public confidence in new price levels and we are taking this constructive step to stimulate the use of your buying power.

For years we have recognized the conveniences and advantage of the Time Payment method. We are selling annually many millions of dollars of goods on Easy Payments. Basically the American Public is honest, meets its just obligations. On that belief we have never hesitated to sell on time. Over a period of many years, our experience has been thoroughly satisfactory and our bad debt losses negligible.

Now, for the first time in the history of American merchandising, a national institution offers this Time Payment opportunity

Beginning today and continuing until September 15, Montgomery Ward & Co. will sell you any merchandise shown in its catalogues or Retail Stores (excepting groceries) on the Easy Payment Plan, provided your order totals $25 or more

We have begun the mailing of 10,000,000 announcements to our customer list, giving full details. Visit the Ward Store in your neighborhood for complete information. We know this offer will bring us additional business. It will make us new friends. It will acquaint great numbers of people with the dependable quality and the low prices that are the foundation of our business.

We consider it a constructive move (one of the very few that have been made thus far) to stimulate consumer buying. Even a small upturn in demand will start orders to factories, wheels turning, unemployment lessening and a resultant upward trend to our general business structure and prosperity.

Many will praise us for this move, some will criticize us. I hope that other institutions, large and small, will follow with their constructive plans to persuade the public to use its paying power. In his first daily newspaper article of July 1st, Calvin Coolidge said,

"My countrymen, it is time to stop criticizing and quarreling and begin sympathizing and helping."

Prices based on the new low commodity levels, quality goods of absolute dependability, our policy of "You must be Satisfied" and now this great 60-day Easy Payment opportunity. Surely these combine to bring you economy, convenience and satisfaction in your buying.

Yours sincerely,

George B. Evenden

President.

Campbell's 'Swan Song' Stirs Tempest in Dry Forces

Ex-Czar of Dry Law by Repeal Sonnet May Bring Senate Probe of Liquor Enforcement in New York.

SEYMOUR LOWMAN MAURICE CAMPBELL JAMES W. WADSWORTH
ATTY-GEN MITCHELL ANDREW MCCAMPBELL CHARLES H. TUTTLE

WASHINGTON, July 10.—In advocating immediate repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, Major Maurice Campbell, retiring prohibition administrator in New York, has started what may develop into an earthquake in State and National politics.

The announcement was made just as the Federal Grand Jury was handing down a presentment charging "laxity" and "nonfeasance" in the local Prohibition Bureau under Campbell.

Coming on the heels of the overwhelming "wet" primary victory of Dwight Morrow, the unexpected statement by Campbell that enforcement is being used as a political football and that "prohibition is not the logical solution for temperance" has rocked dry strongholds all over the country.

A Senatorial investigation of the major's charges is one of the important developments promised. Meanwhile charges and counter charges are being tossed back and forth by the gentlemen who have been assigned to "mop up" that wringing wet metropolis, New York.

The most debated part of the resigning dry chief's statement is: "There are certain brewery, whiskey and alcohol permits that local politicians and certain Administration officials at Washington feel must be stored in order to secure necessary support for the Republican ticket in New York this Fall."

This brought a howl of rage from Seymour Lowman, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of prohibition. Mr. Lowman, formerly Lieut. Governor in New York, declared in answer to this that "if he (Campbell) permitted politicians or anyone else to influence his acts, it shows his weakness and lack of character."

Lowman added, "his statement of a softhead."

Federal District Attorney Charles R. Tuttle, about whom Campbell cast the following none too subtle hint castigating "United States attorneys with political aspirations whose success depends on the approval of local politicians" and whom he charged "incited the Grand Jury to make this unfounded representation," was infuriated, and denied all the charges.

Tuttle is reported as an aspirant for the Republican gubernatorial nomination this Fall. But ex-senator James W. Wadsworth, a staunch "wet" and another Republican with gubernatorial ambition, yelled "Hip, hip, hooray!" at the news, and added that Campbell situation most intimately.

Meanwhile in Washington, Senator T. H. Caraway, an ardent "dry" Democrat from Arkansas, declared he would see that the Campbell statement is brought before the Senate Judiciary Committee at once.

Andrew McCampbell, who succeeded the major in office when enforcement was turned over from the Treasury Department to the Department of Justice, announced, "I believe in prohibition and that it can be enforced here in New York."

Whatever else these interested officials can be charged with doing, they are certainly not ignoring Campbell's swan song blast.

"STANDARD"

ACTUALLY the "Good Luck" you have with "Standard" products is the result of the extra merit built into them. In "Standard" motor fuels, for instance, there is no sacrifice of all-round performance for a single talking point. In knock-rating, ESSO is in a class by itself, but knock-rating is unimportant unless it is found with quick-starting, lightning pickup and a low end point. "Standard" fuels have all these in the proper balance. For years they have had an end point of 400° and lower. It is because "Standard" Gasoline and ESSO meet all the requirements of good gasoline better that everybody says: "You'll have good luck with 'Standard'."

Words Fail in Attempt At Beauty's Definition, Noted Artist Declares

By Alice Alden

NEW YORK, July 10.—Nell Brinkley, brilliant artist who has created an entirely individual type of beauty, thinks that true beauty is so rare as to be almost impossible of definition. And yet as she deals in the portrayal of feminine loveliness, she is ever hunting for it, seeking the impossible, endeavoring to add to her memories of the truly beautiful women she has ever met or known.

She is absorbed by beauty, striving to track it through lanes of pretty women, decorative women, charming women, none of them really perfect, all of them good to look upon and capable of withstanding a hasty glance but not an impartial analysis of their charms.

Dainty, delightful Nell Brinkley, as vital as one of the delicately alluring beauties that the world identifies with her art, is concerned that there should be so much more prettiness, so much use of cosmetics and artifice to simulate beauty, in short, so much prettiness of the standardized type, of the type associated with screen and stage stars, and copied by foolish girls. To her, the modern type of beauty depends too much on being noticed and not enough on being remembered.

Sans Cosmetics

While she admits the debt that womanhood owes to cosmetics, she insists that real beauty must be beautiful without them. "Were I judging a beauty competition," she says, "I would rate the face that depended on artificial coloring as zero—I would just count it out as I think all artists would. Beginning then with the "birthday" face, I would rate face and grace each 25 per cent, manner and figure 25 per cent each, and the whole hundred per cent strongly influenced by the disposition and intelligence manifest in the face."

Nell Brinkley, who says that real beauty is so rare that it is dreamed of rather than ever seen, has glimpsed beauty but three or four times in the course of her life and extensive travels, but those hasty glimpses of true loveliness have created memories that she will forever carry with her.

One of her "unforgettable glimpses of beauty" was that of the unadorned face of a young foreign woman—a mother—at a tiny station in the Cats-kills. Another was a high-school girl of another and less precocious generation, and still another was the face of a little child. And she insists that the most beautiful, the most perfect face she ever glimpsed was that of a young Frenchman, which shows that the ideas of beauty as defined by this famous woman artist vary widely.

Beauty Others

Miss Brinkley is of the opinion that the average woman does admire beauty in other women, though that admiration is tinged with and clouded by many conflicting emotions. She says that the "mature woman understands thoroughly what real beauty is, and so covets and admires it with pain and pleasure." And she believes that despite this era of rather cheap prettiness, that woman desires as ardently as ever to be beautiful, mostly because women are of the fixed opinion that real beauty is able to win from the world the best that life has to offer. But Nell Brinkley says that women should realize that a passably pretty face with a good brain is more likely to win for a girl the coveted golden apple of happiness and her heart's desire.

Nell Brinkley has no favorite type. She is willing to see beauty in the blonde, icy Swede, the golden skinned blue-eyed Oriental, the vivacious, dark-eyed beauty of the Latin, the blithe loveliness of that daughter of many races, but absolutely individual type—the American or the rosy-cheeked golden-haired German girl. She is catholic in her tastes, all she demands is true beauty, regardless of nationality or racial type.

Of all the women in the public eye, Miss Brinkley believes that Greta Garbo alone has the beauty of the "impossible she," that "she" whose beauty is not absolutely flawless, is not of any race or type, corresponds to no established idea or ideal and yet is universal in its appeal. Both Vilma Banky and Maria Corda possess beauty of the flawless type, but yet do not make the vivid, deep appeal that the Swedish movie star does. Another type of beauty, not perfect perhaps when measured by academic standards, but still delightful, vivacious and charming is that possessed by Armida, the dark little Mexican girl. Of the beauties whose loveliness is but a poignant memory, Miss Brinkley would name the late Barbara La Marr, and the ill-starred daughters of the late Czar of Russia, who possessed the important attributes of poise, dignity, intelligence and refinement, as well as physical charms.

WILL THE "WETS" BE GOOD SPORTS?

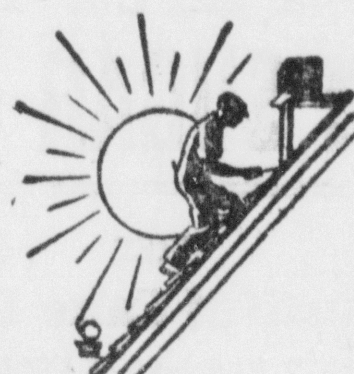

To the Editor of the Public Ledger: Sir—Prohibition was added to our Constitution as a social-welfare measure. Why can't the Wets be good sports and try to make conditions better now instead of laboring for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment? We need education to be willing to give up something we like for the good of others.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel and the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderly at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store, Charles I. Bowen.—(Adv.)

CROYDON AND EMILIE GAME HALTED BY RAIN

The game between the Croydon Boys' Club and Emilie Y. M. A. was called at the beginning of the fourth inning last night at Emilie. Neither team had scored. Croydon had three hits to its credit. Parell, Adams, and Tritschler got them. B. Paul made the only Emilie hit, a single to right field.

Paul and Holland were the opposing moundsmen and both looked as if they were having an on night. Each had been credited with six strike-outs and walked one apiece.

Tonight on St. Ann's field, A. O. H. plays the Independents.

Old Delaware School House Built at Edgely in 1875

Chain Works is the Edgely Brass Company, which came to Edgely in January of this year.

Twelve men are employed in this brick building, engaged in the manufacture of plumbers' supplies and pottery brass goods. Here also is nickel plating, oxidizing, brass and silver plating work done.

A splendid transformation is noted in the places of instruction for the pupils of the Edgely public schools. From the small Delaware School of long ago the system locally has grown to two buildings of fair size, with six teachers in charge.

In the older of the two buildings a frame structure, located on a large piece of ground where the children play when sessions are over, are found two rooms. Here Miss Margaret Taylor and Miss Ethel Reynolds teach the children of the first and second grades respectively.

In the newer of the two buildings, a four-room asbestos one, the other grades are housed. The principal, Donald L. Snively is instructor of the seventh and eighth grade students; Miss Edna Pennypacker has charge of the sixth and seventh grade pupils; Miss Mabel McHenry, fourth and fifth; Miss Florence Wiley teaches the third and fourth grade boys and girls. Supervising principal of Bristol Township schools, which also takes in the Edgely group, is George F. Zarr.

At the beginning of this term a small library was started at the schools, and the shelves now contain 350 volumes. The work of the sixth, seventh and eighth grade pupils was departmentalized this year. There are located in the two structures 210 students.

Assisting in the workings of the school, ever with the best interests of the children at heart, is the Edgely Parent-Teacher Association. This group, organized in November of 1929, is doing very well, and now is comprised of 57 members.

The officers of the P. T. A. are: Mrs. William O'Dea, president; Miss Ethel Reynolds, secretary; Mrs. Forest Bilderback, treasurer. Meetings are conducted monthly on the third Thursday evening, at the school property.

KONJOLA MADE HER FEEL LIKE ANOTHER PERSON

Johnstown Matron Declares
That She Cannot Praise New Medicine Too Highly

MRS. CHARLES BLACKLEY

Konjola, the new medicine of 32 ingredients, is made to make good and does it in countless cases wherein all else tried has been found wanting. Take, as a typical example of Konjola at work, the case of Mrs. Charles Blackley, 840 1/2 Robb Avenue, Johnstown, Pa. She says:

"Konjola made a wonderful change in my condition, and I cannot praise it too highly. For months I suffered from nervousness and a generally run-down condition. I had little appetite and food disagreed with me. I was listless, and just dragged through the day. I was discouraged, for nothing I tried helped me. A friend urged me to try Konjola, and finally I did, and what a pleasant surprise awaited me. Konjola went right to work, just as my friend said it would. Improvement continued steadily, and today I feel like a new person. Fact is, I don't believe I ever felt better. To me Konjola is wonderful."

The same splendid story of success whenever Konjola is given a chance to show what it can do. There is a reason why seven million bottles of this amazing medicine were used in two years.

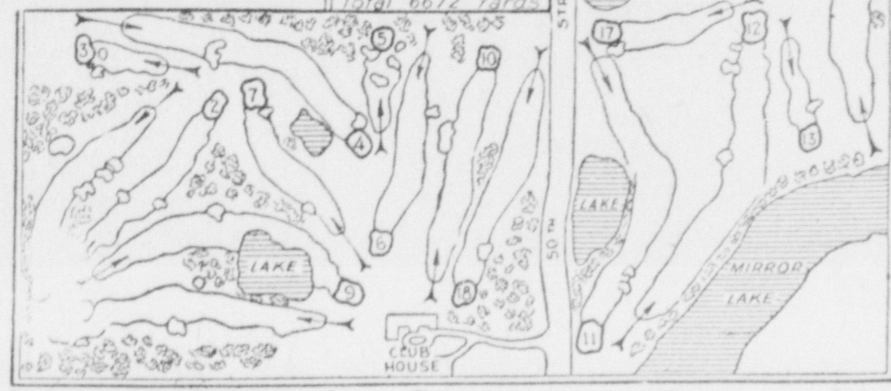

Konjola is sold in Bristol at Hoffman's Cut Rate store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—(Adv.)
